HONGKONG, DECEMBER 18TH, 1871.

An opinion appears to prevail in some well informed directions that there are at last some signs that the Chinese officials are beginning to recognise the necessity of entering upon relations of a more solid character with foreign nations. By degrees, it is thought, they are really awakening to the fact that the old theories of China's universal supremacy must be abandoned, and that the time has come when the nation must make an effort to throw off the old trammels of superstition, prejudice and arrogance which have long impeded her progress, and, seeing how far events have marched in the direction of progress notwithstanding the strenuous opposition which has been made, cannot but lead to hostility and disaster. Such at least appears to be the impression produced in many directions by the recent visit of Tsens-KWO-FAN to Shanghai; and, though we are somewhat sceptical as to the sincerity of Chinese protestations in favour of foreign institutions, we are glad to record this fact, and fain to hope that the view may prove to be correct. There can be no question that there are good grounds for entertaining it, grounds that is, not of mere profession, but not intended to keep up the hill at back. There He ordered Corporal Campbell and two of action, which certainly must appear to be of significance. We read in the Northern visiting the official Consul, called at Messrs. whatever upon any political steps which they have its significance, and may tend to do gress, we may fairly hope that we shall; 'ere long, enter upon a better era in our relations with the country. Our greatest difficulty since the conclusion of the Treaty has been that, in conciliating Pekin, we did not conciliate the l'rovincial Authorities. On the contrary, there were certain provisions in the above named instrument, such, for example, as those connected with the transit dues, which placed them into direct opposition to us. The great hope now is that they may be induced to enter with more cordiality into the compact which has been made by the Imperial Authorities, and that, instead of having only a portion of the Mandarins, those, namely, who are at Pekin, on our side, we shall be able to secure the co-operation of the Viceroys and local officials, and so be enabled to consolidate. with the nation generally, relations which THE VARIOUS HOUSE FLAGS | have bitherto been only with the Imperial Government, who have either not properly

A great tiger adventure is related in the Singa pore Times as having taken place on board the Glenorthey on her last voyage. A large tiger which was being brought in a cage got loose, frightening the passengers to a terrible extent Ultimately Captain Bolton had to go down below and shoot the animal with a rifle.

A would-be repetition of the notorious Sowkewan murder case of 1869, intended to have come off on the night of the 15th instant, as will be seen by part of the evidence in our Police Intelligence, has been by only a hair's breadth averted by the prompt action of the Inspector in charge (Inspector Burns,) or in all probability we would have to record the murder of another Police constable, if not more, as was the case at the fatal attack of April, 1869, out of which resulted the death of Mahoney and the wounding of the Indian constables. Special credit is due to the Inspector in charge of the station, and also to Inspector Uradock, of the water police, and Sergeant Campbell, who by their joint and timely measures prevented any notion on the part of the depredators which to all appearance from the implements found in the junk, might have been serious. Some of the culprits escaped from the junk, and a remand of the case is granted to enable the police to get hold of them.

STOKE THEOWING. Leong-sui-ohee, a dootor, summoned Mr. E dos Remedios, in that his son did on the 14th December unlawfully throw a atone into the complainant's house, which broke a bottle of medicine and some crockery ware.

Defendant admitted the charge as an accident and was ordered to pay amends $3. DEFILING THE PRAGRANT STREAMS, Wat-a-yan, a shop coolie, was fined $3, which were immediately paid, for washing butchers clothes in the stream at the back of Rose Villas in spite of notices put up, both is Chinese and English, warning people against their defiling the streams. ANTICIPATED REPETITION OF THE SHOWKEWAN TRACEDY. Twelve desperate Orientials of the dangerou sort, were arraigned before Mr. J. Russell the following charge: Inspector Burns, in charge of the Showkewan station, stated the 15th instant about 10 o'clock a certain information was given to him, in consequence of look out on a certain junk; the Hop lee, lying Showkewan. About nightfall he sent off the informant on board the Hop Lee, by bimself, giving him certain instructions. Just after he left for the Junk be saw & boat put off from the Hop-les with four men in her. He was standing in the verandah of the Police station then. As the informant went up the Junk's side he noticed another sampan with two men put off from the junk. There were people on the junk calling for more sampans and two or three himself arrested the two men who landed from He bad knowledge of the state of the ground those men; he lost sight of the boat for the space of two minutes, but he was certain it was the same boat which lunded the second and third defendants. They searched them. On the person of the second defendant were found no arms or anything suspicious, but on the person of the third defendant were found double barrelled pistol, now produced, capped and loaded, and sticking in his waistband. He asked Inspectors Burns and Oradock: What business? He said nothing, but they took the men to the station and handed them over to some Indian constables.
